

Motion Planning

Comparing Sampling-Based Motion Planning Algorithms

Comparison between algorithms

PRMs are most useful when:

- Many motion planning instances need to be solved in the same C-space. (multiple query)

RRTs are most useful when:

- Only a single instance needs to be solved. (single query)
- The system has motion constraints that make it difficult to create direct, straight connections.